

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Class A stocking proposal by the PFBC

Re: Class A stocking proposal by the PFBC

Author: : PennKev

Date: : 2013/10/6 14:27:18

URL:

Quote:

phiendWMD wrote:

Why would they do this? Just to put more fish in heavily pressured water? I don't understand what they are trying to accomplish. Mostly everything that could come from this seems like a negative overall.

After reading it, it seems that the streams in question are ALREADY stocked. So, ironically, if anything increases pressure, it will be ADDING THEM TO THE CLASS A LIST.

That said, if they are Class A they should be added to the list and stocking should cease IMO. I don't like the idea of making exceptions to the rules or changing the rules due to an unforeseen or underestimated situation such as this. It opens the door for ever expanding and ever increasing "exceptions."