Ed is right that we (the wild trout fishers and TU types) are in the minority. Also, I agree with Ed that many of us would be shocked if surveyed many anglers about wild trout, and their very existence.

At some point in the not-so-distant future, I would hope that the PFBC would move in a direction away from the great white fleet we stock'em for you to keep'um direction, and move towards promoting and enhancing self-sustaining fisheries.

We just can't afford to spend our limited dollars on less and less fish. At some point (now?) the amount of fish and frequency of stocking will (has?) become so low that anglers will drop out.

Class A streams offer a great angling experience and need not be stocked. Use those fish to stock other streams with which are not Class A and are stocked very too lightly to satisfy the anglers fishing them.
