Common, pc, cut us marketing guys a break. Overall, Ti is better than stainless in a weight/strength ratio-- that's "reelly" what's it 's about. The copywriter may have taken slight creative liberties in the explanation of the stainless selection, but this is a freakin' fly reel. Type 304 stainless would've sufficed fine unless the user cleans reels with Clorox! It's not a lie. It may be a slight exaggeration. The bottom line is still the same. These reels are built like a brick "$&ithous4e."
