

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : ID'ing fish in the water

Re: ID'ing fish in the water

Author: : Mike

Date: : 2013/10/8 23:52:25

URL:

Skillbillie: Don't bother looking for the fish; if you can see them, then there is a good chance that they can see you or hear you, or will do so in very short order. It is best to be able to identify good fish habitat and typical fish lies, then fish blindly to the habitat while assuming that there is a good chance that the habitat is occupied. Obviously, this is not the case with rising fish.