Dave, "All false assumptions. If you see a posted sign, then it is posted."

Well, it is posted, but who is to say by anyone in authority?

For the Steelhead Jam, why not buy a few dozen POSTED signs and tak them on trees where you intend to fish? If a stretch of stream was formerly open to public access and suddenly was restricted, wouldn't you think the landowner would do something more than sending out a few 20-somethings to verbally inform people of this significant change.

My money is on hoax, and I hope there is some means to punish the offenders.
