

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Nymphing IRL

Re: Nymphing IRL

Author: : DGC

Date: : 2013/10/11 8:51:19

URL:

SBecker said;

Quote:

but if you have the chance check out a comp. Just to watch those guys nymph. You will learn a lot and in no way ever have to become a comp angler.

I agree. No matter what your attitude regarding competitions and where and when they are held, the fact is these folks have put in a great deal of time, thought, money and experiment refining nymphing probably more than anything else.

And since Jeremy lives in Lewistown, he is just around the corner from a comp on Kish creek scheduled for late October. Not sure where on Kish but maybe someone could clue him in. In fact, if he hosted someone for the comp he would likely get lots of personal attention and get more than if he paid big bucks to TCO or FFP for a lesson. Get permission from girlfriend first of course.