Agree, there really is no comparison between the Lehigh and little Lehigh.

One needs to be a adventurous with the Lehigh. There is a lot of good water to explore. Typically, Fall trout fishing can be finicky, but this year has been very good and the trout held over very well. But understand that there won't be a trout behind every rock or in every run.....hopefully some day!

If you want great nymphing water, take a trip up into the Gorge. Pocket water galore. If releases from FEW are less than 300 cfs, it should make for good wading conditions. Staff, studded boots and care are highly recommended.
