The climate has changed before. It will change again. What caused it to change all the times before? Before we were even here. The biggest difference now is, there are newspapers, books and magazines that don't like the change and thing there is something we can do about it. Try starting of stopping a tornado or hurricane. There are just somethings we as humans have very little impact in changing. Climate being one of them. Ted Danson stood on the beach some 20 years ago and said, this will all be 30ft under water 20 years from now because of the polar ice melt.... Not. Wait till the polar shift happens... Climate change will look like a little tea party.
