

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Chest pack issues

Re: Chest pack issues

Author: : pcray1231

Date: : 2013/10/21 15:42:03

URL:

Quote:

Quote:

SBecker wrote:

Magnets, how do they work?

Paging PCray, Paging PCray!

Unbalanced electron spins. :)

^^There, I splained it in 3 words.

Anyway, towards the OT. I've settled on a Richardson chest BOX. There's a similar product made by Downstream.

I don't bother with outside drying patches, I just put used flies back in the box they came from, which is easy with these things as you don't have to fumble around for the fly box. They aren't air-tight so they'll dry just fine in there. If you wanted, they have little rings designed to hold the floatant of your choice in a handy location. You could probably resize that for a pill bottle or container of your choice.

You can also get pouches to attach to the straps for whatever tippet, shot, etc. you want to carry. Or skip the pouches and put that stuff in your pocket.

They are expensive compared to a chest pack. But you only ever have to buy one.