This is just an easy thing you can do to reduce the number of twists you have to do while finding the "locked" spot on a spindle of split shot. As, in most cases, a picture is worth a 1000... I paint the circle of the lock spot where the round box is "locked". I used the same paint I use for highlighting beetles and popper heads.

Anyway, it's just something that makes it easier and faster on the stream.....

Hope this helps.
