are you not worried that if you catch a vine or creeper with your foot and fall flat on your front, that that hard box could puncture a lung or something ?

i take at least three swallow dives on the riverbank each year, so that would concern me.

You are joking right? " puncture a lung or something ? "

I just can't see any of my fly boxes put'n a hole in my lung, less I was parachuting into my fishing zone and landed wrong. You do seem to fall a lot. Do you carry a flask?
