

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Rods... what's the difference?

Re: Rods... what's the difference?

Author: : brookieaddict

Date: : 2013/10/23 8:28:30

URL:

convert,we all were beginners, and any question is a good one. I agree with our mod. learn how to cast under different situations and then look at upgrading. The more you fish the more you teach yourself. Most fly fishing names,adds,and claims are there to catch fishermen not fish,you do that . I have my first fiberglass fly rod that I thought was my casting issues way back when. It casts just fine, it was my learning curve that was the problem. The best casting practice is fishing.