

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Is anyone else seeing Brookies Spawning

Re: Is anyone else seeing Brookies Spawning

Author: : Swattie87

Date: : 2013/10/28 16:13:58

URL:

Haven't seen any actively spawning yet. Although two weeks ago on a steep SC stream I did see two very brightly colored 7"ish males engaging in a rather active disagreement as to who was the owner of the hole they were occupying. I'd have to assume this was prespawn behavior as the hole was plenty big enough to support them both otherwise. I watched for a few minutes until they settled down and took up two different feeding positions and then drifted a Royal Wulff through and settled the disagreement for them. I caught the slightly smaller of the two and released him in the next hole downstream.