Saw some interesting pics my buddy took at the mouth of Trout run on Lake Erie. There are several steelhead on a redd right above the wake line , where it turns into a creek/run and in the illegal zone. The steelhead come and go but there is a big one or two turning sideways and kicking gravel and right behind them about three feet is a huge brown and he stays put the whole time , just turning his head once in awhile to eat something. He takes great pictures , he is up there right now as a matter of fact. He checks this website all the time but refuses to join the forum , i told him he could be a millionaire with his video but he is content just to read and check the stream reports and he buys some equipment from Allen , mostly hooks latelyC'mon Higgins , get in the game!!!!!!
