

---

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Fall surf reports

Re: Fall surf reports

Author: : evofly

Date: : 2013/10/30 15:23:11

URL:

That fish Marc caught was real, real nice. Got it in some skinny water too. It was insane when he handed me the rod and reel! I was doing everything i could to keep tension on the line with one hand and hold the broken reel and the rod in the other!! We all laughed our asses off though once he landed the fish by hand lining it in!

He and I have been hitting surf hard since September and its starting to pay off finally. I agree with Marc - the run hasn't even started yet. Still big schools of fish in the NE area. The water in NJ is about perfect right now. I think the run is right around the corner, especially after this front blows through on Friday.

I'm fine though with everyone giving up thinking the run isn't happening... Leaves more beach and jetties to fish

