It's more of an issue of how much rain we get tonight and tomorrow in Erie. I would expect 12 & 16 are fishing now with 20 fishing soon and probably Elk later today. It's supposed to rain tonight and tomorrow, The projections are for about 1/2" during that time. That is right at an amount where it is a total crap shoot. If it falls slow all day, may not hurt things at all. If 1/2" dumps all in a couple hours...they blow up. And, it's a crap shoot as to how much will actually fall, esp in Erie. Seems like every place else, the NOAA projections fall short. BUT, when lake effect comes into the forecast....it can go either way.

There, that should clear it up for you 😊
