I have read ok things about them never paddled one. look some reviews up. one thing regarding tracking. the 13 foot yak is a good size for you. it will track straight I have been in a 12 and it was not bad but not like the 13. I find it to be one of the most annoying things about yaking. you can also install a rudder but they run 200 bucks.

I was also looking last night at yaks on craigslist. I did see a wilderness systems ride. I know they are very nice yaks. I think is was under 700 but not positive.
