

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : 30" Browns

Re: 30" Browns

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2013/11/3 13:23:03

URL:

Fish over 30" are very rare.

In over thirty years of fly fishing in PA I have never seen what I would consider an honest 30" brown. However, they do exist - there have been a handful of fish in the 30"+ class that have come out of the Cumberland Valley streams over the years (including one a couple years ago). To the extent that they exist in PA.....I'm certain it's mostly in big, deep, cold reservoirs. I'll bet there are a good few swimming around in Raystown, Allegheny Res, and Wallenpaupack. You could spend a lifetime of fishing streams in PA and never see one.