You have some good carpin' waters out your way John. Mill Creek is a 'hot spot'!

You got it Geo! Most of the carp I caught were taken in Mill Creek. I have a lot of water to explore yet, but I really enjoy scoping out some new turf. The last carp I got into was definitely the biggest fish I stuck all year. He took off on that first reel screamin' death run and when I tried to apply some side pressure to turn him I left my crayfish fly and tippet hanging in him. A clinch knot on my 2X tippet failed at my tippet ring. Lesson learned..... Always retie that tippet knot on each outing before starting to fish. The devil is in the details when carpin' too! Mill Creek is a great carp fishery. Lots of fun!
