

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : 30" Browns

Re: 30" Browns

Author: : ryguyfi

Date: : 2013/11/3 21:07:34

URL:

I know it's not PA, but this guy is on the wvangler site and consistantly catches large browns from small streams. He's got this fish on Moldy Chum this month that he taped at 27". I think mid 20's are doable on a regular basis as this guy continually does it, but that 30" mark is an old old fish and pretty rare. It takes a great food source, good cover and a lot of luck for a fish to reach that size as well as good genes.

http://www.moldychum.com/home-old/201 ... -west-virginia-brown.html