My largest has been 28.5" Brown caught/released April Fools Day 2011. Cumberland Valley. I have caught many trout 20" and over in the region. This takes commitment, tons of stream time, year round effort and a fool to do it. I admit that most of them were caught not on a fly...but instead on other artificials. This is changing as I have been posting (for example the 21"er I posted tonight on the fish photos). Once you learn the behaviors and locations of habitat that support larger fish (the 20-26") the next desired goal would be to focus on the magical 30" mark.

I have only seen the one photo/story of a 32.5" brown in big spring creek in Newville. The state lists biggest fish of the year on their site and most of them are from lakes...it is worth a look.
