I see Eagles a lot down here. I also see them when I'm in MD and I've seen them in Pocono a few times while brook trout fishing. I always get the same excited feeling whenever I happen to see one.

I've found eagle feathers while trout fishing this year but never picked them up. It's still a crime to have them in possession. So I just leave the feathers be. I hate that law but you never know if your going to be checked on the way out of the woods and if you might be searched.
