yhep, there sure are bigger fish out there than you can imagine...that 32.5"er pictured above is a BigSpring fish, word on the street is that it's a very old holdover and was caught in the lower, open water...lot of deeeeep undercuts down there. Just look at that fish, how pale it is, when do you think it last came out during the daylight hours?

Other words on the street are the salmon sized brown I spot lighted on the Letort from a bridge one night, easily bigger by a large margin than any 20"er I've ever sight fished to in 20+yrs. And if you think those little electrified sticks can reach up under all of those spring creek swamp ass undercuts as they stomp on through while doing their surveys...well, yeah, they are missing some truly rare big fish....as it should be.
