

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : I miss fly fishing

Re: I miss fly fishing

Author: : The_Sasquatch

Date: : 2013/11/5 9:26:15

URL:

Quote:

pcray1231 wrote:

The reality is that life sucks. I have the idealic home, a loving wife, a wonderful kid, and I love it all. But I go to work, come home, and do the same dang thing all the time. There's a standing list of crap that needs done. Nomatter how cute my kid is and how much I love him, after an hour or two I'm just frustrated.

I hear you, dude. I love my wife and daughters dearly, but I need an escape. My wife asked me about this the other day. If you're not careful, it can come across as if you don't want to spend time with your family. I explained to her, "I work in an office with all women all day. I come home to a household where even the damn dog is a woman! I need to get into the woods and get away from the estrogen!"