I'm right there with you Jack. I haven't fished much in the past few years due to my growing family. I miss it, but I know it's only temporary until I can get out a bit more. I love playing with my kids, watching them grow and learn and being with them but I still yearn to be on a stream. I know it's only temporary but I know what you're saying. Did some fly fishing for panfish with my daughter this year and was some of the best times I've ever had fishing. Can't wait till my boys are also big enough to take out.
