Hi everyone, first post here and hoping some of you can shed light on both these twigs. Reading a great deal about the BVK being one great rod for the money however I also have my eyes on the FCR of which i have found zero feed back on.

The FCR is reported to be a more moderate action rod vs the BVK which sports a rather fast tip and strong mid/but section..... has anyone here fished or know anyone who's fished the FCR by Temple Fork?
