I can feel it coming..... The 20" +/- 3" fallfish thread. All catches are to be ocularly estimated to the best of the angler's ability. Of course to be positively critiqued by the forum members. 😊 All kidding aside, if you never tangled with a decent size fallfish, get out there to your local WW stream or river find a good looking piece of water with decent depth throw a big old ugly wooly bugger or Clouser or something that will gain attention and hang on! Be careful, you may become converted to a chub junkie in short order. Oh yeah, if you happen into a good one don't forget to start that new thread! Have fun!
