I totally disagree with all of this chub loving, when I have a fish on the line and then find out it's a chub, I'm really bummed out. I'm expecting a beautiful trout and what I bring to hand is a ugly horney headed croaking pathetic fish. I then proceed to curse at it while I release it.

There is plenty of room on this forum to engage in many "beautiful trout" threads. Most of my time is spent in this mode as well. I feel there is also a great opportunity for flyfishermen to engage and share experiences fishing for some of the species of fish in PA that don't get much respect ..... like the mighty fallfish.
