I was out in Allentown for work one weekend this past spring and got to fish the LL. It just so happened it was also stocking day through the park. I arrived before the stocking truck and wondered why there were literally 100 "fishermen" just standing around bs'ing. I continued to fish through the park and then the trucks showed up. People were literally jumping into the creek to get ahead of the next guy where they just threw a bucket of fish in. That was the end of the day for me.
