

---

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : The Coloration of Wild Browns in Autumn - Some Thoughts and Observations

Re: The Coloration of Wild Browns in Autumn - Some Thoughts and Observations

Author: : Night_Stalker

Date: : 2013/11/11 12:43:26

URL:

Here are some old photos that showcase some crazy autumn color and "the worst fish management...ever!"
(just look at the color)

Nicely done Dave. I have a bachelors degree in fine art and have worked as a professional artist for almost 30 years (graphic design and publishing/illustration). I often wish I could get a camera to capture what I see. Attempting to recreate/paint the magical visuals presented by the fish we catch is quite challenging. Ever changing lighting and the seasonal variation can be extreme. The water color and the angle you view a fish from have greatly affect your perception. Something to truly marvel at.

Attach file:

---

 tumblr\_mfrqk62S7f1s1j5qwo4\_1280.jpg (116.41 KB)

 tumblr\_mfrqk62S7f1s1j5qwo1\_400.jpg (132.90 KB)

 tumblr_mfvkrbXDfv1s1j5qwo1_1280.jpg (105.58 KB)

