

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Tulpy skeeter spraying KOing hatches?

Tulpy skeeter spraying KOing hatches?

Author: : lestrout

Date: : 2013/11/11 21:43:51

URL:

I've visited the Tulpy a couple of times this fall and I think the hatches are much diminished. I hear the West Nile fears have inspired spraying to knock off the mosquitos, but I wonder if the hatches have gotten hammered as a result. After all, midges of the chironomid persuasion are in the same family, maybe even genus, as skeeters.