Ok here goes, instead of whinning about it on a internet forum you should have checked to see if you still had a pair,walked over introduced yourself and informed him of the posibility that he was fishing over redds,beds,fish etc.

I'm really sorry you took it that way and hope that most other readers see it for something much more than whining. I'll bet for every guy we see on a redd there are 10 more we don't see, so this is aimed at all the guys we don't see. We all know there are lurkers out there that glean our stream info much to our dismay, well hopefully they'll glean something from this.

Opinions are like a$$holes, we all have one. In my opinion I did what I thought was right for that moment and future moments but I appreciate everyone's opinion even if those opinions are less than constructive in their tone.

Now I've checked, I got them and I'll go have 2 pints.
