Is it a headache trying to thread the end of your tippet through the eyes of rod? Pull out enough line to get 10-15ft of fly line, double over the fly line and thread it through that way.

It's so frustrating when I have the line almost all the way to the tip and then I let go of the line and it goes right back through the guides! Doubling over the fly line and then threading it through makes it so much easier.
