when tying on fly that you are holding with forceps, tying a clinch knot becomes super easy if you let the fly dangle with the forceps still attached, and give the forceps a little spin... 8 twists in no time.

When tying on a dropper from the hook bend, make a loop in dropper, slip over bend, then make the twists by spinning the top fly by rolling its line between your fingers.... then just pinch the top fly to keep it from unwinding, and complete the clinch knot.
