

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Maintaining bamboo rods.

Re: Maintaining bamboo rods.

Author: : bikerfish

Date: : 2013/11/14 6:19:52

URL:

I've fixed them, but it was years ago, and heck if I can remember what glue I used!! I think it was 2 part epoxy, but not the 5 minute stuff, I tried to get it in all the nooks and crannies of the spinter, then put everything back where it belongs, and wrap it up with a lightweight cotton string, put it in some sort of jig to hold it all straight. after the epoxy dries, remove the string and sand off the excess, do your white silk overwrap, finish with varnish of your choice, no color preserver and the silk will vanish.