Well, I rarely stream fish in the winter because where I grew up ois all freestone. There rare occasion I did, I did not find the brook trout to be cooperative when water temp was 32 to 33f.

I haven't fished much in the fall either and used the excuse I was giving the trout a rest during the spawn. Well, I have fished then, just not for trout.

My winter fishing usually meant drilling a hole in the ice. I used to love ice fishing, but have not done it in awhile. Not enough ice for my liking last year.

I'm going to try to get out more this winter for ice fishing because it is hard to beat the taste of panfish caught through the ice.

If anyone is interesting in hooking up on Pymatuning or something nearby to that this winter, let me know. But warning. I do not own an ice shanty. Cold does not bother me ... much.
