The only issue I see is the stuff might be a little on the thick side from age (won't flow into all the cracks very well).

Mix it in a cup, and keep the cup in a hot water bath during mix and application.

Should keep it a bit more fluid.

Was planning on preheating both parts before mixing them. I figured it can't hurt. Also like your Dixie Cup idea.

Preheating the cane should help as well.

I sure hope the stuff is still good. Haven't checked.

I'll do a test run on something else first.
