I have. But she doesn't fish anymore. She took the class at PSU, got the equipment, and went once or twice, but didn't keep up with it.

She enjoyed herself, but in a mildly amused sort of way, not a "this is something I HAVE to do more of" sort of way. I think I'm too passionate about it for her. She seems to enjoy just about anything, but doesn't want to "get into" anything. I think FF is something you have to kind of really get into to be successful. She wants to do things, but only things that you can decide to do once in a while on a whim and still get full enjoyment.
