

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : tippet length when dry flying

Re: tippet length when dry flying

Author: : jwb123

Date: : 2013/11/14 17:41:48

URL:

Goro's advice is sound. When starting out, I think it is advantageous to stick with a consistent leader and tippet length. This allows you to focus on your accuracy and presentation with a constant set up and removes a variable from the equation. As you progress, you'll come to recognize the scenario's that require a different leader length and be able to adapt to them more successfully having mastered the basics.