Yes.. actually our first date was a fishing trip. Over a decade ago when I finally decided I would date again after a long first marriage I figured I was not going to even consider dating a woman who did not enjoy the outdoors and fishing. I met my wonderful wife and we have now had over 12 years together. I proposed to her during a trip to a fishing lodge in Canada. She does not fish nearly as much as I but we'll take a few trips to the stream with me and has joined me on a number of guided trips in FL. She can hold her own with a spinning rod or fly rod.
