

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : 30" Browns

Re: 30" Browns

Author: : Night_Stalker

Date: : 2013/11/19 22:01:19

URL:

Fall is not the only time to get some! If you fish in a hatchery stocked stream, throw pellets. If you want monsters...throw meat in a place that has beasts! My 28.5" brown earned 1st place the year before (2011), same contest (referring to the link above), and was weighed on a spring scale at 9lbs. My fish was released. It was not a hatchery fish. My fishing buddy had 2nd place with a 26.25" brown. Both fish where Conodoguinet catches and caught on artificial lures (spring and winter respectively). I know they are out there. 2012 my largest were 24" three times. This year...so far, 25, 25.5 and 26"ers. That equates to constant year round boots in the water, an ex-wife, a very understanding girl friend, and very obsessive behavior. Eventually, I might get lucky enough to see one thirty inches. Put the time in.