Dave,

You will still need to bind and lghtly sand before the white silk.

OK, let me see if I got this right.

1. Glue, and get it in all the nooks and crannies.
2. Bind it with cotton string (per bikerfish). I'm assuming fairly heavy stuff.
3. Once dry, remove the cotton as best I can (will likely need razor blade.
4. Sand lightly, being cautious not to sand into the power fibers.
5. Wrap white silk
6. A couple times in the dip tank (varnish).

I might be off a couple weeks over Christmas (my choice) and will do this to avoid being bored out of my skull.
