Outside of high, off color water, big Brown Trout are hard to catch. And they will probably reduce the amount of smaller, more easily catchable fish, as the PFBC report alludes to. Explanation enough I think for the reported "decline" in the fishing?

Haven't fished the stream, but it was on the short list prior to seeing this report. Still is afterwards. Being a freestone with mostly Browns, I'll wait for the right conditions before making the drive though.
