I don't see a problem personally with a self imposed one a day over thirty for big trout chasers. I haven't been able to keep one and I'm not sure if I could. But,,,,,, I don't have a problem with that. I believe all the two footers, well heck 20 inchers over that were released in the pursuit can make up the spawning necessary to sustain. Good Job Brown... Call me crazy but I believe on a hunch that the fish may have been a fingerling stock. The only reason I say that is it looks alot like Big Browns I have seen in the past in streams that receive fingerling plantings. Did I mention that is one helluva fish and a great pic.
