

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Vibram sole wading boot

Re: Vibram sole wading boot

Author: : krayfish

Date: : 2013/11/22 20:05:23

URL:

Second vote for Sims guide boot. I've had studded felt for several years and got a pair with the rubber sole only because the felt pair looks to be near the end of their lifespan.

First couple trips gave me the impression that the rubber soles are completely worthless and feel that way currently. I've done some checking and will try the star cleats, hard bite screws and / or the aluma-bite cleats. Got to find something that will work because they suck "as is".

FWIW, be prepared to drop another $30-50 for studs / cleats. You'll also want to be ready to lose 20% if you do a longer hike in & out. Worst idea the industry ever came up with. Just spent all week trying to find a shop with some leftovers in studded felt....no luck.