agree on the sunfish.... if you put a colored-up redbreast or pumpkinseed in a magazine and said it was a rare beauty from the tropics of south america, ppl would believe it.

so true...back when I had extra room, I used to have a 125-gallon aquarium stocked with nothing but pumpkinseeds, bluegills and green sunfish, They look absolutely stunning under fluorescent lighting, and visitors refused to believe that all the fish in that tank came from a pond down the road.
