The problem I have with Slate now is that there are always people fishing it! There are literally hundreds and hundreds of wild trout streams in that area of the state, and dang it. I ain't driving up there to fish with a stranger! I fished Slate in the late 90s and enjoyed it very much. I'd like to return there, and I've been in the area several times, but I always opt for streams with no one else on them.
