

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : When is it just fishin' but not "fly" fishin'

Re: When is it just fishin' but not "fly" fishin'

Author: : troutbert

Date: : 2013/11/26 19:45:42

URL:

Quote:

dryflyguy wrote:

Personally - in my snobby mind - I don't think you're really fly fishing, unless you have a dry fly on the end.

The true traditionalists use wet flies. The history of flyfishing goes way back, and for the great majority of that history, flyfishers used wet flies. Dry flies are a relatively modern development.