Your rod is always the most likely thing to be left somewhere you don't want to leave at the end of the day. Always put it away first instead of leaving on your vehicle or leaning against it. I know, I left it on my truck nce, luckily I was only pulling out of a parking space when I realized what what I'd done and got it off the truck. A friend once left a rod on the same truck, and later about 5 miles down the road we heard it hit the highway. Lucky for him.
