I agree with going to a shop to try one on. A wading jacket is something I would try on and and then do all kinds of casting and other motions.

My Orvis jacket is about 10 yrs old and it's still in great shape. They have one for $159. If I were to buy one today, I would not be sure I would need a medium or a large. Sometimes I wear a sweater under the jacket.

I've also owned a Simms which was also very good.
